Get to know your Toms River PHC Medical Director!

Dr. Bauberger is a Jersey kid who ventured south and began his college academic journey studying Food Science and Human Nutrition at the University of Florida. While deep in a PhD program, Dr. Bauberger developed a calling to Medicine and worked hard to balance the requirements of both degree programs. After completing Medical School at St. George's University in Grenada, Dr. Bauberger returned to New Jersey for his residency in Family Practice.

During his final year of residency, the World Trade Center in New York was struck. That event prompted Dr. Bauberger to join military service, first in a civilian capacity for 13 years at the Maguire/Dix/Lakehurst mega base where he cared for troops from all branches of service. As recognition for this service, Dr. Bauberger was promoted to Deputy Commander of Clinical Services, the highest medical position, and one he takes great pride in having filled.

When operational responsibilities were reassigned to another base in Texas, Dr. Bauberger chose to remain in New Jersey in order to lead the team at Partnership Health Center in Toms River. He did so in part because he saw strong similarities between how the military is committed to maintaining the health of its service men and women and the philosophy of Partnership Health Centers: short term cost-cutting is avoided; long term health is a priority; no copays for treatment; and no eligible patient is turned away. In short, Dr. Bauberger wanted to continue treating patients where all have access to the highest level of care and he didn't see those opportunities in regular, private practice.

Dr. Bauberger freely tells his patients he is thankful to have the opportunity to focus solely on their lives and health as well as lead a team of like-minded clinicians at Partnership Health Center Toms River.
